Hazelnut Shell Granule

A general-purpose abrasive available in multiple calibres — a reliable solution for blasting and filtration.

Ground from hazelnut shell and available in different calibres, this granule finds wide use in general-purpose blasting and filtration thanks to its hard, durable structure. Thanks to Türkiye's share in world hazelnut production, the source is abundant and regular supply is possible year-round. Its ability to clean without over-eroding the surface makes it preferred in both heavy-industry and delicate-work applications.

KEY CHARACTERISTICS

- Hard, durable structure
- Suited to general-purpose blasting
- Also used as a filter medium
- Available in different calibre/mesh ranges
- Natural, biodegradable
- Regular year-round supply from the Black Sea source

MAIN AREAS OF USE

- General Blasting — Provides standard cleaning and pre-paint roughening on metal, wood and composite surfaces.
- Water & Oil Filtration — Used as a natural, renewable filter medium in filtration systems.
- Surface Prep & Pre-Coating — Cleans the surface before paint and coating to create a key for adhesion.
- Industrial Cleaning — Used to clean dirt, soot and oil residue from machine parts and equipment.
- Activated-Carbon By-product — The fine dust fraction separated during processing can be used as a high-carbon by-product.
