Pistachio Shell Granule

A hardness-graded granule — precise control in surface finishing and blasting applications.

Ground from pistachio shell and available in different calibres, this granule offers precise control in surface-finishing applications because it can be supplied in different hardness grades. It is supplied regularly from the pistachio-growing regions of Southeastern Anatolia. It is preferred on surfaces that need light-to-medium abrasiveness, where aggressive blasting carries risk. Its low-density structure also gives it use as a filler component in floor-coating and decorative-product mixes.
